Adelaide Bushwalkers

Incorporated

POSTAL ADDRESS P.O. BOX 178, UNLEY, 5061.

This logbook and its container have been provided by the Adelaide Bushwalkers as part of a programme to place log books on selected peaks within the Flinders Ranges.

You are invited to include details of your party, intended route, campsites and your observations of water supplies, weather, seasonal conditions, plants and animals. This information could be useful to other parties and to those responsible for looking after and managing the area.

Please keep your comments brief. One half page should be more than sufficient for most parties. You will of course respect the wishes of previous parties by not removing or damaging the book. Please contact the club if you find the book needs repair or replacement and we will arrange it.

We wish you an enjoyable trip!

Arrived 1.30 pm 19/5/84, heading for dead
goat soak tonight.

Sat 15th September 84.

Grant Lock Farmer from Kimbu

Matthew Lock eight and $\frac{3}{4}$ years old

This father & son mountaineering team arrived at Mt Falgland for lunch. While having lunch we watched 40 wild goats running themselves on the ridge to the S.W. Earlier near the summit we caught twin young goats and released them again. Found a scorpion, rock gecko, Hewels nest and thoroughly enjoyed ourselves and the beauty of God's creation.

Family staying at Angorichina for a break, prior to departing for the Desert in Pakistan to do Rural Development work among tribal people of the Thar Desert with a team from the Church of Pakistan.

6.10.84 3.25 PM BWHTB Assessment Walk - Pete Perry.

Party of 8 walked from Angorichina today. Steve Hanway Peter Jopson, David Will, Bruce Lewis, Martin, Angela, Patrick & John Blum (Assessor). Will camp near here tonight then to DGS for lunch tomorrow. Great views & Dave Goodwin is right the eagles do fly nice. Pete Perry.

Fre 9/4/85 - 11.25 am

Solo walk from Parachula Gorge for the Serenity and the view. Perfect, day, mild, with excellent visibility; (once the fumes are dispelled with obvious the Man, with the can of Morton, has never been here)
And the observer has been observed. Two wedge-tails have spent some time soaring and riding the air currents.
A beautiful night

Will return to Parachula on the ridge.

EASTER '85 - Monday

Arrived here 9.30 am after unforgettable night above Dead Goat Peak -

Left Parachula Friday & travelled via Blumman Pools to Wunna Wunna Spring
(now-existent here in wet). Then via Dreyon Range & ABC to Pigeon Cove. Climbed peak south of D.G.S yesterday. ^{Then} up wearing skin to top. (very steep. & I did too, not ~~W~~ again!

13/6/85 Geoff Marshall once from New South Wales.

I don't think I'll go down the way I came up. That gully to the south accentuates your loneliness at 80% (slight exaggeration). This is my 5th day of walking in Flanders, 4th day from Wilpena. Great walk! Off to Parachilna to hitchhike to Port Augusta. It looks along way over there so I'll see you or ~~can~~ read you later!

22/6/85 Arrived here at 1.20pm from Parachilna Creek, after a long hike all along the ridge. Yesterday we walked to the Blinman Pools & had a very refreshing bath.

Watch out for the reפורני sticks on the top! We saw three eagles soaring above us on the way along the ridge. Beautiful sunny day. Were glad we didn't go up the way my younger brothers did at Easter.

1/7/85 What's wrong with everyone? This was a soft climb (after doing Mr Aleck anything's soft). Here at ~~the~~ 1320 one hour from the bottom. 1' roo + a parrot seen on the way (oh, and an owl). Magnificent views all very round. Mr Hayward, St Monys ^{too} beach, Aleck + Pompey to the south

Elkhart + Pataventa to the North
 For those who are a little jaded after the climb - "cheer up, it's all downhill from now on"

Arrived approx 1600h via ridge route from Parachilna Gorge.
A most direct route with excellent views along the way and any number of scenic lunch spots.

Noted also how GREEN the place is - but if that much rain has fallen, where is the water in Parachilna Gorge? I wonder where the stuff has got to? Just had 4 days at Freeling Heights and same story - lots of new growth but very little water in the usual places.

Spent a cool and very windy night at the campsite 20m south of cairn and we're off to Kingfisher Water today, possibly on to Blinman Pools if Kingfisher is low (dry?) Then out to Angkor on Sat or Sun.

Arrived 12.15 after a casual walk from Crisp Gorge. An enjoyable lunch in mild, sunny weather. We were heading north along the ridge from Mt Faulkland to return to our camp site at Crisp Gorge.

Quote: "One day we will be paying for this view." (Bart) "courtesy of Dept. of Environment and planning".

Someone might like to try the macrobiotic approach to light weight food carrying - eg. dried tofu, dried seaweed, noodles, miso, gomasio for seasoning etc. - it makes a variation to normal dried food packs; especially useful for vegetarians (Alan & Dharma).

Thursday 9. October. 86 $\approx$ 600h

A meandering course along eastern ridge tops from Parachilna Gorge (after wading kneedeep across a rapidly flowing Parachilna Creek) ^{and up the eastern face} Rain yesterday ($\approx 1"$), last night and this morning. Peaks all in cloud this morning, including down to $\approx 450m$ - hence slow climb from Gorge.

Headed to Brachina Gorge via ridges (Mt Bell, Ninketo; Walkandi + Haywards) with detours via Dead Gost Sock + Crisp Gorge, up the ridge to Mt Dib + Dob, then Pigeon Box and Bathub Creek.

One could call it a solo pilgrimage, but I know you're walking with me Louise.

I wish the Swifts would slow down so I could get a better look at them... but then they wouldn't be Swifts would they(?) ...

A solo adventure:

Portland Oregon USA

to

Mt Falkland, Flinders Ranges, South Australia!

Mission accomplished! . . .

no where should I go? certainly not home will someone please give me a job so I can stay longer...

There are some sand ripples down below, in the gap in the ABC Range.
But the ripples are 10 meters up the canyon wall, made of rock (sandstone), and they're verticle . . . I think they're the oldest sand ripples I've ever seen.

The thrill of seeing kangaroos hasn't worn off — I saw five of them on the way up! (Now where can I find a Yellow Footed Rock Wallaby?)
This is just like my home in Oregon — but it's so very different.

Left Angorichina Monday morning, went swimming Andrew 'dictator' Taylor got us lost. The students' good navigation got us all safely to our campsite on the other side of the Trezona range. Tuesday: went through ABC Range + met Presty + Virg in Smile creek, lunch at Dead Goat Soak. Our good humour, madness + gas got us to the top of Nintena Peak + on to the saddle close to Mt. Bell for the night.

Today, Left 7:30 (weez up at 5:30!!) climbed mt Bell then this joint (unreal scenery)

NB: All South Easterners (of SA) good luck on the rest of this great walk that your doing!

We've had lots of people in fire form so far. The girls are slaughtering us on the farting and burping scene. Jo Hetzel would have to be "best on camp". Weez is consistently last at everything. Shut up Gino!

SUNDAY 24TH APRIL {THE BARRIER RANGERS EX-BROKEN HILL (NSW)}

1:20 pm

Arrived safely from camp at ABC Laze upstream from Dead Goat Soak. Water at soak OK with frogs in very nice (cold) swimming hole. Got out a bed at 5AM to have leisurely stroll up here via MT BELL, a brilliant peak with some nice friction climbs on overhanging slabs (Sue peaked out) Yesterday's sunset off the top of Mingari Peak to South was out of this world, sat around build the belly & hit the decent gully after the sun disappeared. The $\frac{3}{4}$ moon was brilliant and provided adequate light to our path back to camp. Were very glad to find the gorgeous pool at the Dead Goat, the party was getting dry - so dry we couldn't even drink the port for fear of dehydration (shocking state to be in). Ben is still rabbiting on about visiting Mad Dog Creek and the Springs. Sue doesn't really care where she goes long as it's down. Looking forward to the sunset tonight wherever we are (it's very hot for April) heading back up the Heyser Trail to the base camp. Threats of visiting Angowchina for a pack full of coke have been canned now being 2:45pm. The light has been amazing all the time since arrival and is now great on the Heyseers.

The Blackboys alias Yaka Bush (racist comment, politically correct) have a hard time living here. Advise the Aborigines for swimming in this country. Let's keep it for ^{all} our descendants so they can enjoy it too!

Dear ???, That's one helluva climb for some, But I tell ya, those helicopters are a brilliant invention. I'm currently in the process of convincing the trip leader (Wolf or Sue) into guiding us to the springs for a Refreshment swim. Dead goat soak has a brilliant spa style rock pool, I highly recommend it. (warning - It's Damn cold)

Great climb pity about the mako on this trip though

Monday 16 May 1994

Camped last night on the saddle below Mt Bell - excellent sunset to the west. Yesterday we walked from our camp, in a pass in the ABC range directly east of Mintertite Pass, to Dead Goats Soak, then up the gully to a saddle just below Mt Bell. - different saddle.

Note: the walkers in the previous entry wrote messages all over the rocks in Dead Goats Soak - Dickheads! - they even wrote their names.

One thing they were right about, though, the rock pool at Dead Goats Soak was great - pity more of the goats weren't dead, though!!

We finished off our last map detail yesterday morning - bade farewell to the Gorge and drove down to Parachilna Gorge which we reached just after sundown. This morning the students left in three groups to meet up with us at Dead Goat Soak. One group was meant to climb this mountain - where are you folks? We are heading over Mt. Bell and down to the soak. It's a bit windy up here but at least L. Torrens is in view in the haze this time (see previous entry). Now for a spot of lunch with Laurie and Dennis. Tell next time ~Groovy~ Good stuff, this so-called "bushwalking"... Maybe I should do more of it... 😊. For just a casual walk, you get pretty wicked views, encounters with local wildlife, a bit of exercise and a lot of good, plain old fashioned 'fun'. A party up here would really go down well! (so would any one who didn't watch where they stepped.)

bugger all to say really.

I would like to say a special sucked in to all those in the class who could have come up here and didn't, because the climb was worth it. It's a perfect day and to add a bit of excitement to it, we had to haul our packs up with "4m Nylon Cord" (Tobols) hardest.

Well, looks like Peter Glarby, Hux and Squirrel

A Little Poem

Before we go away,
We'd just like to say,
Hail to the bushwalkers
Hail to the bushwalkers,
The mountain goats came,
They ~~shred~~ shread the terrain,
Hail to the bushwalkers,
Hail to the bushwalkers,
With woolen jumpers,
And soft coloured vails.
We're the mountain goats,
Not the snails.
Hail to the bushwalkers,
Hail to the bushwalkers,
We're off to dead goats soak,
To roast a big balled goat,
Hail to the bushwalkers,
Hail to the bushwalkers

though I hate to shock y'all I must say, we're not headed to bleed goat. This book is in dem and, yet more rivetting words to come. (I'ded this walk, especially when you start to shake +

Andrew Banks

Yay I got up here, but then so did you so really it's not that hard. But I sure thought it got pretty damn hard towards the top.

Well keep climbing or walking whatever you're doing.

~~Ali J.T.~~ Ali J.T. class 10 Waldorf 1997.

I finally got here, we are not doing anything it's a warm day 8/5/97 and we are waiting for the teachers. See you later. Alex M.

What do you want

We want to surf and we want it now!

This camp sucks! we had to pay to do this. we want a refund!

Today folks,

After chilly night last night we made it up at about midday and I think we're all about had enough, so we're going over to Mt. Bell to set up camp for the night.

Hello to all future Waldorf students who come up here with our crazy teachers (Peter and Denis) after 1½ weeks of hard work surveying.

May the Waldorf mountain climbers live on!!

Love Pet. P.S. Don't fall off the cliff on the way down.

Today fellow bushwalkers, (what a joke, fellow mountain goats would be closer to the truth) how are ya all? ~~Bugged~~^{stuffed} or ~~buggered~~^{stuffed}? personally I'm ~~buggered~~^{stuffed} and I ain't movin' no further! The camp has been alright and I suppose that's all you can really expect when you have to survey for hours and hours and then as a nice surprise at the end you get to climb bloody M.T Everest! But I must admit the view is pretty damn good! see ya's later!!

~~Love. Jess E.H.~~ Love. Jess E.H.!

Well, I must admit the walk ~~is~~ was worth it. Now that's saying a lot, because it was shattering hard. I am ashamed to admit that my resolution not to swear went flying full speed out the window as we arrived at our third VERTICAL climb. To make things worse, the others who were up the top, & who were supposedly in the 'Harz' group & who had come another way altogether, proceeded in telling us how easy it looked. They should try climbing a vertical rock face with a 18 kilo pack on. Morons. As for Pete & Denis, be afraid, be very afraid. They told us it was mostly flat with a climb at the end. There's no need to point out that that was not the case. But anyway, despite all my wingeing, I actually, in a warped sort of way enjoyed it - well no - I'm glad I did it, but NEVER AGAIN. I was expecting a bush walk, not a bloody rock climb. Anyway, I'm going to eat all my chocolate - yours cheerfully,

Alice Keash

- sorry, I wrote too much, but once you start to wing - you can't stop.

Well, after having a constant fight with my pack (which wanted to do the opposite to what I did) I finally made it up this gigantic hill (mountain, alp? whatever) It feels good, though the prospect of sliding doesn't appeal. But, a girl's gotta do what a girl's gotta do!

HB.

I finally got up here, after 2 hrs. of climbing up 3 vertical hills. Gee, the things we do for teachers are amazing. What do they give us in return? Work! & more work! We've still gotta go 2/5 of the way to Mt. Bell. Where we will see (hopefully as Peter & Dennis recon) "Hail Bob" the comet. All that life threatening climbing to see a bloody star. far out. Anyway, enjoy your stay up here & enjoy your climb back down. TR

I've never wanted wings before so much! I love this height!
and I like it how everyone finds it hard to be grumpy on the top of the world - how could they?

There is so much space up here.

Hi everyone!!!

Waldorks

Our school made us do this, we're not really that crazy. The view is good but the landscape's boring. I wanna go back home to Thailand. I want an ice cream. I want a bed. I could go on like this forever but I need to get going.

Love

Mission: Saving Private Jacket.

Crew: J. Martins AKA Mad Dog Bill - C. Simmons AKA ruht - A. Savage AKA Razar - C. Dwyer AKA Big Boy -
J. Scott AKA - ~~Bitch~~ Inspector Gadget.

We moved out at 5:30 am from the Cascades and arrived here at 9:10 am. It was a long and hard climb made worse by the fact we haven't seen any sign of Private Jacket who went missing yesterday afternoon sometime. We came under fire from some green men covered in spikes. Sustaining no serious injuries we continued on up the ridge and up the mountain to where we are now. We are running low on food and water. We must now head to Mt Bell. Out Captain Runt.

9:30am We found Private Jacket not 100m up the ridge. It was badly wound and needs medical help so we're getting the fuck out of here.

Mission Status Complete.

Captain Runt.

Stuff this Mountain.

Yeeeeeaaaaahhh! Bitch.

Razar: Private Jacket was recovered. Thank Fucking God. Now I want to get off this bloody Mountain.

Big Boy - Yeeeeeeeeehadaah! Third Time lucky I made it Kick ass Fuckers!!

Well now I am ready to make a real entry.
The walk was so beautiful, as always. From what I read. I would like to say hello and congratulations to Elliot, Jordan and especially Anna, but that only applies if you reach the top. Thankyou Greta for being so

Wise in your advice about this

26/9/01 3rd trip up Mt Falkland with my father, Bob James, but only the first I've discovered this! Very windy day, slightly dusty, though no clouds. Currently camped in Parachute Cove and I'm hoping for some more rain (there's been heaps at Wilper). Better stop now before the pages get blown away.

Here for the third time - every ten years

Made it in one piece, what a beautiful place.

We left Angorichina at 8:30am + made it here at 1:30pm - didn't have to go back for Les's boots this time. Noone pledging to do it again in ten years - not even Jenny Court. Kate, L & R

Well, made it back for tea ten years ago & hope to today - Jan blifford Verba miki desunt (Bill Clifford)

At 64 I doubt I'll do it again, but who knows? Les Howard I've been told we'll be back @ Ango tonight... my first time Annette
I don't believe in the mythical "easy" way but it's great to be here - Phil Robinson
Now we just have to get down again before dark! Ella is waiting for me!
Ruth Payless

I did it at 50, I did it at 60 & 7
sworn I am not going to do it at 70

Jenny Court
When Jenny did it 10 years ago I climbed another hill. I am now 10 years older & much more stupid so but I am. David Harvey

TUES 27 MAY 2003. Beautiful cool sunny day with breeze.
 Camped (lone) at Angorichina - today rest day with gentle walk up Heyson Trail for a bit, but got sick of the flies. So I got away from them up here. Stunning view - could stay here hours (I already), look, enjoy + read book. Couple of wedgies check me out now + again, but I'm pretty scrawny. On Patawenta yesterday, Mt. Elkington day before that* - hopefully back on Patawenta tomorrow (last day)

Hey ppls, this is mmm again, I decided I wanted 2 write sum more, Ummmm, I actually can't think what 2 write... Megan told me 2 write about... the joys of rockclimbing... Megan that is so lame... Megan told me 2 go screw a tree, and she also suggests that I take a walk off the edge, (and Megan is serious)

Guess what, we climbed the cliff 2!!! (this is 4 Daniel, Nick, Ell & Ben if you ever come up here again)

Me (Miriam), Gall, Alex, John, Megan, Rosa, Kyra, & Reuben &
Leisha, climbed the cliff!
Velly & Jordan climbed the pissy way...!!

+ Later, others arrived... they were, oh crap, can't B bothered writing down all the names.

everyone got lost in the end

Pissy way damn ya'll! I guess I'm not worthy of writing in here but I will. Seeing as Ell and Tim suck at writing I have to say Waddup Anna I'm gonna write a decent thing to you firstly I will have told u to bring bongo drums on camp this would be the time to play them, secondly this is probably the last time you'll hear from me because not one of us actually has any water, we're half de-hydrated and I'm getting full sunburnt so have a good life. Alex has lost his shirt so can y'all bring it back 2 him. Tuna B the ultimate appreciate it while they still exist. Maximum respect to Zip off pants I have never really appreciated them for what they really are! The above sentence goes out to you Anna as well, you're a beautiful person I love you 2 it. So anyway thinking bout ya while I'm sitting at home on the couch watching T.V. sweet sweet T.V. well that's if your up here otherwise I guess you'll be there with me. So Peace and love going out The year 9s and 8s are amazing. LOVE YOU BOTH!!!

Yesterday my group got lost
we ended up spending the night in the middle of nowhere. That's me, Sonja, Carman, Aaron, Aidan.

After getting lost we finally found Peter and the camp Peter then made the five of us hike up here. But I'm glad he did.

Looking forward to getting home and seeing my family.

Love ya all forever. Thoughts
P.S. Hope Will + Oshana that you solda Nando's dad your having fun! 7/5/2004

I made it!!! I can't believe it! we got lost yesterday and didn't make it into camp, it was quite fun. Congrats

Howdy, Made it. weather's fine. Saw some roos + goats.

Bit scary in places. Very glad I quit smoking. My thoughts are with my father who sadly passed away 1 month ago.

I certainly feel like I'm that bit closer to him being up here.

Love you dad. Howdy to the wife + kids too. See you in a couple of hours. Ciao for now.

WALDORF 2005

Dear future classes to come - I don't have a younger sibling so I have to say much love to you all, especially Manita, Em and Lou as you guys are better siblings and Belle is mine! much love to 2006 people must be good. Have fun - ✓ Freyja

Hello to my most gorgeous darlings Manita Emmison and Llew if you made it up here well done you should be proud of yourselves. Hope you had a great camp. Lots & lots of love your other big sis Belle XXXXX

P.S A big hug and kiss to all the other waldorf people who made it up here!

Hello my dear sister Izbo & little bro Geoff El.
You made it! Congratulations, you have no idea how fucking scared I was! When you're here, sit on the outcropping rock and think of Mully, who has blisters but is enjoying the thrill!! Love you.
To Erin & Suzz, love you cool little peoples.
Rueel forever! And to every other association of mine,
I love you!! Good luck! Love you Tab.

DEB FOREVER ALWAYS

Hello everyone!

Another Swiss exchange (or the first one?) climbed up this for Australia high mountain, no it was hard. :)
Lots of love to Caitlin + Anne and to all the other exchanges they're gonna come up here

✿ xxx Anna

2005 a crazy waldorf girl called Pia climbed this mountain. Hello to Fanny if you're still at the school. Hello to Spencer Kenny coz we used to run around in our underwear together and that's got to mean something. Good luck everyone!

♡ Pia xxx

2005 ☺ I want to go home!!
Ummm Good luck to everyone who wants to come up here!!

Love everyone

Hello to everyone!!
We managed it! / We are up here!
We didn't take the best way but we are all safe and had lots of fun!
I miss you all in Germany and think of you!!
Love Julia ☺

everyone got lost so we had to go back but

^{Hello everyone}
I MADE IT

Hi Luke hope you make it up the mountain

This camp so far has been shit
the real killer well have fun

Joel Kimber

Hello Everyone,

Since I have ~~to~~ no siblings to write to I will say hello to Annabelles Manita, Llew; Emmi (good luck to you all).

-Sam.

Hey Anna, Caillen no you think your good for making it up the hill, but your not because if Milton or Miki can do it any one can do it. have fun at school in 3 days.

~~Kelley~~ XX for the million

Hello all Future Waldorfian stoners... I mean... don't smoke it's not cool...
This mountain is a piece of fucking shit I just want pizza and iced coffee. I have 3 siblings and none of them wrote anything so here's to the Rich's... LaLaLaLaLaLa FaFaFaFaDaDaDaDaDa... Miki &
Milt + R stoners D hani + Rat + Man' Rich?

Heloooo!!!!

Man its hard work getting up here, but I reckon its worth it to read this book.

Caitie and Anna, assuming your reading this yay you made it!
I wasn't sure I would hmmm cliffs are fun! pfft.

Love you guys to the extreme!
Hey Milton did you stay at the bottom to smoke smoke?

Joseph I hope by now you're still playing your violin; I bet your all pro now,
I'd write forever but we have no time!

♡ QSS XOX

Hi Guys,

I'll bet you all 'made it in one piece - every one has! That walk was a killer, the last bit was the best - up a rock face, great fun.
I've no siblings to ~~write~~ write so I'll say hi to everyone, especially Sazz, Erin Gerald and all of my bro's class (Izzie Tab and even one else. Hope you loved the camp) (sarcastic) I'll be a all

Hi again

3/6/05

Carl Bradney, Katherine Wilde, Katie Beruldsen and
Paul Kee arrived here today from the head of the Heyzen Trail.
Wonderful weather and blue skies. Nice climb up. Off to Nintenta and Dead Goat Soak tomorrow and Mingari the next day.

23/4/06

After a start at 1.20pm from the Blinman Rd we arrived at 4.30. Heading for camp at dead goat saddle.

The Monash Bushwalking Club.

The dreaded Monash Bushwalkers have gone BUSH walking at last "Zipped" up here from 5-mile Creek this morning. It will return (perhaps) this arvo. Already been to Blinman Pools which have been bombed flat by floods on Wednesday. All looking very green - like us (P.S. to Graham V. Carter: Suck eggs sunshine, we beat you for slackness hands down!!)

Leon Barmuta

I'll speak to you later, Leon! GVC.

B.J. Trail - does AUMC do nothing around this desolate landscape. Try Vic & we have real mountains with real forests (And pubs with real beer, Southwark is shithouse!)

Midy Jones - a Tasmanian - we've got good mountains too. It always rains though, very interesting cloud patterns.

Tommy P. 25th Berlin: almost faint, can't haven't seen no chocolate for a whole week, but still looking forward to a huge bar in 3 (big) days.

Mark Nicholls - Nice view but we didn't bring enough lunch. What a waste after leaving D.G.S. this a.m.

Group is part of the 4th National O.E. conference.

Here is 'Granma's' prize winning recipe for Dead Goat Custard.

1. Add 1 litre of water to a billy half filled with dead goat.
2. Bring to boil without allowing the dead goat to burn.
3. Add raisins & nutmeg.
4. Serve immediately.

P.S. for a good nutritious beef jerky and goat turd stew try this one:

1. saute two handfuls of day old goat turds
2. combine with chopped jerky in ample water
3. Continue boiling until goat turds have evaporated
